DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 – 7, 10, 13 – 16, 24 – 25, 28 – 30 drawn to client information collecting method and apparatus, classified in class 705, subclass 1.
- II. Claims 8 – 9, 21 – 23, 26 drawn to client information providing method and apparatus, classified in class 705, subclass 1.
- III. Claims 17 – 20, 27, 31, drawn to point assigning method and apparatus, classified in class 705, subclass 1.
- IV. Claim 11 – 12 is drawn to merchandise information collection apparatus classified in class 705, subclass 1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because invention I is directed to collecting client information, and, invention II is directed to providing information about a client.

Art Unit: 3629

The subcombination has separate utility such as client information database with classified client information.

Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because invention I is directed to collecting client information, and, invention III is directed to assignment of points to user who bought merchandise. The subcombination has separate utility such as tag code with points set in the tag code.

Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because invention II is directed to providing information about a client, and, invention III is directed to assignment of points to user who bought merchandise. The subcombination has separate utility such as tag code with points set in the tag code.

Inventions I – III and IV are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because invention I is directed to collecting client information, invention II is directed to providing information about a client, invention III is directed to assignment of points to user who bought merchandise whereas invention IV is directed towards merchandise information collection apparatus.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II and III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group I and III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I – III is not required for Group IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 3629

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: I.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently:

Claims 1 – 7 directed to collecting information about a client with no recordation of tag code attached to merchandise, whereas, claims 13, 14, 25, 30 are directed to collecting information about a client with recordation of tag code attached to merchandise.

Claims 8, 9 directed to providing information about a client with no recordation of tag code attached to merchandise, whereas, claim 21 is directed to providing information about a client with recordation of tag code attached to merchandise, generating marketing information and providing marketing information.

Claims 8, 9 directed to providing information about a client with no recordation of tag code attached to merchandise, whereas, claim 22 is directed to providing information about a client with recordation of tag code attached to merchandise and automatically accessing a site providing information about advertised merchandise.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Naresh Vig whose telephone number is (571) 272-6810. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 7:30 - 6:00 (Wednesday off).
